7:30am Conference & Preconference Registration Opens

8:30am – 4:00pm Preconference Workshops with Julia Taylor (lunch on your own) 6.0 CEs

Counseling Techniques to Help Adolescent Girls Manage Relational Aggression
Navigating the cultural and social context of girl world is not an easy task. Relationally aggressive behavior is often prevalent during the tumultuous adolescent years, and intensified by the use social media. And while relational aggression in youth continues to receive national attention, resources that address this behavior remain scarce. This workshop will focus on the cultural context of relational aggression, current research including the role of bystanders, and prevention and intervention strategies to help girls manage this behavior.

An Introduction to Trauma-Informed Counseling for Youth
A growing number of youth are impacted by trauma. As research continues to grow in this area, we are understanding more about the devastating consequences trauma has on childhood outcomes. It is imperative for practitioners to recognize, understand, and address the unique needs of this population. This workshop will provide an overview of trauma, cognitive and behavioral implications of trauma in youth, and prevention and intervention strategies for counselors.
The Princess and the Pea: Girls & Women with Asperger’s (High Functioning Autism Disorder)
Anne Dilenschneider (Journey Counseling Services)

“Everything we thought was true of autism seems only to be true for boys.” Many girls and women with hfASD suffer in silence. Others, like the princess bruised by a pea hidden under many mattresses, they are misdiagnosed and labeled as problem patients. No wonder they come to us battered and bruised, with no way to explain what is wrong. This presentation will normalize symptoms, explain neurological differences, offer strategies and resources for working with these girls and women.

When You Lose, Don’t Lose the Lesson: Helping Adolescents to Embrace Challenges, Failures, and Losses, as a Path to Excellence.
Jessie Daw (Executive Director, Huether Family Match Pointe)

In our achievement-oriented and esteem-protecting society, losses and failures are often seen as results to be avoided. This session examines losses, failures, and challenges as important for growth, with a focus on school settings. Discussion will address how loss/failure are currently viewed, and strategies to challenge maladaptive/misguided views of failure with adolescents in “teachable moments.” Additionally, we will discuss school culture and the importance placed on success/winning, and how to challenge, and attempt to change, school culture so that all recognize and embrace the role of loss/failure in growth and improvement.

Facilitating Best Practices When Working With Culturally Diverse LGBT Clients
Ahmet Can (Assistant Professor, Northern State University) & Karyl Meister (Assistant Professor, Northern State University)

Although the helping professions celebrate diversity and seek to demonstrate sensitivity towards diverse populations, some professionals admit to not knowing how to effectively work from a multicultural approach in LGBT clients. Becoming cross-culturally competent professional counselors, we must be intentional in working with our diverse clients/students and address the many dimensions (e.g., gender, sexual identity, SES, lifespan development) of their lives in a sensitive manner. This session will encourage attendees to discuss their personal struggles in their daily work with LGBT clients. This presentation will introduce terms and provide valuable knowledge-skills for working with diverse background LGBT clients from different countries in the world.

SMART (Stress Management and Resiliency Training) for Counselors
Sheila Anderson (Britton-Hecla School District) & Kami Norland (CEO, Integrative Re-Sources)
The SMART (Stress Management and Resiliency Training) for counselors program will share evidence-based research in a format that is simple, participatory and fun. This presentation will enhance understanding of the neurosciences, philosophy and psychology of stress and well-being, utilizing the research and coursework for improving resiliency of Dr. Amit Sood, Mayo Clinic, Global Center for Resiliency and Well-being, (stressfree.org). These teachings prepare counselors for recognizing and celebrating the hard work it takes to care for others; so we want to help you take care of yourself, so you can continue to care for others. This program has been tested in over ten completed research studies at the Mayo Clinic with the results indicating improvement in stress, anxiety, resilience, mindfulness, productivity, happiness and positive health behaviors.

5:30pm-6:30pm
Optional Chapter Meeting Time
- Cornbelt Chapter
- Central Chapter

7:00pm-8:30pm
OPENING KEYNOTE  Juvenile Justice Panel featuring: Greg Sattizan, Kristi Bunkers, & Tiffany Wolfgang
1.5 CEs
In South Dakota, we send our children to the Department of Corrections (DOC) at a higher rate than almost any other state in the country. While we have reduced that commitment rate, our decline lags behind other states. Motivated by that high commitment rate and the cost of DOC beds, a bi-partisan, interbranch, data-driven work group was formed to analyze juvenile justice data and to consider what policies could be developed to improve outcomes for our children at a lower cost. The result of this workgroup was the Juvenile Justice Public Safety Improvement Act. The Act was designed to reach the following desired outcomes: to prevent deeper involvement in the juvenile justice system, to improve outcomes by expanding access to evidence based interventions in the community and focus residential on youth who are a public safety risk. The panel will be answering your questions on how this applies to your community. Bring questions!

8:30pm
SDCA Social Recognizing First Timers and Retirees
featuring the Last Call Rock Band http://www.elriad.org/rock-band

Last Call rock band is an eleven-member rock and roll band that is a part of the El Riad Shrine of Sioux Falls. You can expect to hear an eclectic mix of rock music representative of the four decade age span of the eleven musicians. The inclusion of horns in the group’s instrumentation allows the band to showcase arrangements not included in the set lists of many other bands. Last Call band can be heard in various venues in the Sioux Falls area. Proceeds from playing do not go to the musicians, but rather are donated to the Shrine philanthropic efforts of helping medically challenged young people receive free services at the various Shrine Hospitals. If you are aware of any children who might benefit from Shrine Hospital services, feel free to visit with band members throughout the night.

Last Call member Dwayne LaFave recently retired after forty-five years in public education, most recently twenty-five years as the K-12 School Counselor in DeSmet. He began his SDCA affiliation in the mid-eighties, serving as president in 1993-1994.
Friday, May 5th (8 CEs)

7:00am-8:00am  Yoga Practice for Counselor Self-Care and Burnout Prevention  1.0 CE
with Joan Huber (Lennox School District)
Incorporating yoga for exercise, as well as for its meditative and relaxation benefits, into a Counselor’s’ self-care program can be helpful for preventing stress and burnout. Incorporating self-care strategies throughout all stages of the profession from graduate school to retirement can be key to a long and fulfilling career. Participants will gain hands-on experience through a yoga session, learning how to incorporate time for yoga into busy schedules as well as gaining an understanding of yoga and why it can be a healthy burnout prevention strategy. Dress comfortably for stretching/yoga

8:00am  Conference Registration Opens  East Lobby
8:00am  Vendor/Exhibitor Booths Open  Washington Room

9:00am-10:30am  Keynote address with Julia Taylor, Ph.D.  1.5 CEs

Strengthening Sisterhood: Empowering Girls to Resist Societal Pressures, Fight Unrealistic Media Standards, and Develop a Healthy Body Image

Today’s standards of beauty are unrealistic and unattainable. It’s not a coincidence that body image disturbances are widespread, contagious, and toxic. Girls are inundated with confusing messages that often interfere with their ability to learn, lead, and develop authentic relationships. This keynote will address these important issues, with a focus on helping girls develop leadership skills to combat and revive a generation that has become exhausted by media saturation, the myth of perfection, and body bullying. Questions will be answered during a separate breakout session.

10:30am – 11:00am  Morning Break (Vendor Bingo Time) Washington Room

11:00am- 11:50pm  60 Min Breakout Session II  1.0 CE

Strengthening Sisterhood: Q & A
Julia Taylor, Ph.D.
This presentation allows for questions from the opening keynote session.

My Career Story
William Bridgick (Associate Professor, South Dakota State University) & Hande Sensoy-Briddick (Associate Professor, South Dakota State University)

This presentation provides brief overview Career Construction Theory (CCT) as well as an overview of a helpful, free resource entitled My Career Story (MCS), which can be, used with high school age populations and beyond. MCS is rooted in CCT and is based on the work of Mark L. Savickas (Savickas, 2002, 2005) in Career Construction Theory (Savickas et al., 2009; Savickas, 2012). My Career Story is the work of Savickas & Hartung (2012).
Tell you story with confidence and competence: The ethics, law, and practice of providing affidavits, court testimony, and investigative interviews.

Erin Stolsmark (Erin Stolsmark Inc.), Jessica Lewis (Academic Advising, South Dakota State University) & Paul Lewis (Moody County State’s Attorney)

Going to court can be a stressful experience. Counselors’s unique positions mean they are often called to provide court testimony and investigative interviews regarding their clients and/or area of practice. This program will address ACA ethical guidelines for providing written and verbal legal communication, engage participants through practice testimony and review of legal processes and procedures related to giving court testimony, written documentation, and sworn affidavits. Participants will be able to share their story legally, ethically, and confidently.

Surfing the Tsunami: Navigating Sensory Processing Issues
Anne Dilenschneider & Lori Menneke (Journey Counseling Services)

Persons with sensory processing issues live in a tsunami of information from all 8 sensory systems. They may feel helpless, trapped, and frustrated at school, work, and home. Advocating for accommodations can feel like swimming in a rip tide. Taking our cue from those who surf the highest waves, we’ll normalize symptoms, explain neurological causes, offer strategies, and provide resources for empowering children, adults, and families to find the balance to ride the waves rather than wipe out.

Empowerment, collaboration, and engagement – A leadership Journey
Jessica Lewis (Academic Advising, South Dakota State University), Lane Madsen (Rapid City Area School District), Julie Nelson (Rapid City Area School District), Betsy Hughes (Vermillion School District)

Counselors work everyday to enhance human potential and thus are well-equipped to serve as leaders in a dynamic and changing world. Leadership empowers professionals to work for change within and front of organizations. Bold or reserved SDCA invites each counselor to author his or her leadership story with confidence. This program highlights unique leadership journeys that intersected in Minneapolis, MN at the ACA Midwest Region 2016 Leadership Training. The program will engage participants through story telling, as well as roundtable conversations and paired dialogues. Attendees will make connections and gain confidence. Counselors will interact with their colleagues, learn about leadership development opportunities, find areas to use their talents and interest to grow as a professional, a leader, and a member of SDCA.

Thinking Outside the Gender Box
Terri Carlson

One of the most fundamental aspects of a person’s identity (gender) deeply influences every part of one’s life. In a society where this aspect of self has been so narrowly defined and rigidly reinforced, individuals who exist outside its norms face innumerable challenges. Participants will hear the stories that have changed hearts and minds of others. Through thoughtful consideration of the uniqueness and validity of every person’s experience of self, we can develop a greater acceptance for all, and provide a safe and welcoming learning environment for gender and sexually diverse students.

Lakota Circles of Hope - Culture specific prevention curriculum for Middle School grades 6th to 8th.
James Kinyon (Catholic Social Services) & Gwen Holmes (Catholic Social Services)

Lakota Circles of Hope is an innovative culturally specific prevention curriculum that teaches students how to use their culture to deal more effectively with risky behaviors such as drugs, alcohol, commercial tobacco use, bullying, and suicide. The curriculum is intended to foster a positive Lakota/Dakota identity and enhance students' understanding of Lakota/Dakota culture. Lakota Circles of Hope is an elementary (K-5) and middle school (6-8) curriculum. Lakota Circles of Hope incorporates South Dakota State Educational Standards as well as the Oceti Sakowin Essential Understandings & Standards.

12:00pm – 1:50pm     SDSCA/SDMHCA Luncheons and Business Meetings
2:00pm – 3:30pm        Breakout Session III (90 min) 1.5 CEs

Embracing the Story in Our Lives
Lisbeth Leagjeld (Doctoral Student, University of South Dakota) & Allison Boughn (Doctoral Student, University of South Dakota)

Stories can help us define who we are; histories passed down through generations, milestones achieved, and life experiences provide a framework for developing self-awareness. As counselors, we have a unique opportunity to bear witness to insight, catharsis, and healing as we listen to client stories. Come and join us as we discuss how stories empower us through intentional telling and listening. You will have an opportunity to express your own story through poetry and art!

The STEPs Method for Progress Notes
Rhonda Sutton (Wellness Counselor, Hilton Head Health)

Counselors appreciate the stories their clients share, but when it comes what to include in their progress notes, counselors are often left wondering what to write. Knowing how to effectively write a note can help counselors better connect with their clients as this documentation guides their clinical work. This program provides a way for how to conceptualize progress notes. A role play will be utilized to show how to use the STEPs method to efficiently and ethically write progress notes.

Tell Your Story – Hear Their Story
Debra Butman-Perkins & Clark Perkins (Circle of Encouragement)

We all have stories to TELL. We all have stories that need to be HEARD! Come learn a variety of storytelling techniques that give everyone the freedom and permission to share. This presentation will utilize interactive play therapy techniques to develop interest & desire to share their stories with exuberance!!
10 Strategies Proven to Inspire & Engage EVERY Student
Christian Moore (Creator & Co-Founder, Why Try LLC)

Want to engage every student in your classroom? This session will demonstrate 10 strategies proven effective at building resilience, strengthening relationships, grabbing attention, and inspiring every student in your classroom. These strategies have helped over 2 million youth in 20,000 K-12 schools, mental health, and correctional organizations in the areas of academic success, dropout prevention, class management, and bullying prevention.

Our Story: Integrating School, Private, Agency and Community Counseling for Youth and Families
Erin Stolsmark (Erin Stolsmark Inc.), Jeff Heavlin (Sioux Falls Catholic Schools), & Duane Kavanaugh (Lutheran Social Services)

With the changing dynamics in the lives of youth and families, many questions have come up in regards to effective interventions. This presentation will address how we as counselors we can improve the system for the better and move our profession forward. By the end of this presentation counselors will have a better understanding of their roles of their co-professionals (agency, private practice, school and community counseling). This is the ongoing story of how counseling professionals can work to improve the outcome of the consumers we serve.

3:30pm – 3:45pm Break (Vendor Bingo Time) Washington Room
3:45pm – 4:45pm 60 Min Breakout Session IV 1.0 CE

Rainbows and Sunshine: Solution-Focused Brief Counseling in Elementary Schools
Sarah Greene (West Central School District)

The purpose of this presentation is to educate counselors on the theory behind Solution-Focused Brief Therapy, providing specific examples on how they can begin to develop cooperative, change-focused relationships with their younger students. Attendees will also get a chance to learn about and participate in Solution-Focused activities that they can use with their own students.

Not Just Male or Female: Gaining Familiarity With the Gender Non-Conformance
Kristine Ramsay-Seaner (Assistant Professor, South Dakota State University) & Staci Born (Assistant Professor, South Dakota State University)

This presentation will provide mental health counselors, school counselors, counselors-in-training, and educators with information aimed at expanding the understanding of the term “gender”. This will include exploration of the gender spectrum, which includes genders such as transgender, gender fluid, gender neutral, and more. Explanations of the differences between gender, biological sex, and sexual orientation will also be presented. An educational handout will be provided.
Success! For Students with ADD/ADHD and Executive Brain Dysfunction Sara Holmberg (Rutland School District) & Lara Langeleitt (Brookings School District)

Struggling with students who have ADHD or Executive Function Deficits? School counselors, mental health counselors, and parents will find this presentation helpful, encouraging, and hopeful. Participants will be introduced to the most recent research that describes the link between ADHD and academic performance as well as medications that are used with ADHD. Classroom management and challenging behaviors will be demonstrated, and resources about ADHD will be provided.

Breakthroughs and Benefits from Neuroscience Research: A Path to Brain Health
Cathy Larsen (Catholic Social Services)

Have you ever walked into a room and wondered, “Now what did I come in here for?” Have you ever thought, “If my memory is this bad now, what will it be like in 10-20 years?” Neuroscience research has good news for us: there are many lifestyle changes within our control that can prevent brain deterioration as we age. This session will be part lecture and part interaction...no power point here. Come to the session and find out why.

The Client’s God Story: God Attachment in Psychotherapy
Michael E. Wheaton (Journey Counseling Services)

A client’s story of God and how they relate with God impacts the therapeutic journey in powerful ways. This presentation will assist participants in determining a client’s attachment style in relationship with God, as they understand God. It will also address some of the implications of a client’s God story and how that resulting attachment style impacts their ability to experience safety in relationship to God and others.

A Journey Interrupted: The Impact of Trauma on Adolescent Development
Kathleen Brown-Rice (Assistant Professor, University of South Dakota) & Luanna Olthoff (Restoration Counseling and Consulting, Inc.)

Due to adolescents’ neurobiology, they have unique counseling needs when they have experienced trauma or been exposed to trauma. This presentation will: a) explain how trauma affects adolescents’ brains; b) provide information on the environmental, social, and cultural conditions that impact adolescents’ behavior; and c) provide participants strategies to use with this population. Information will be provided for utilization in both school and clinical mental health settings.

“Wiping the Tears” Helping Lakota Students with Grief Issues. Sponsored by SDNACA
Gina Veo (Cheyenne Eagle Butte School District) & Lola Blue Earth (Cheyenne Eagle Butte School District)

This presentation will help counselors working with children who have grief issues in a positive and healing way. Participants will learn about the Lakota tradition of the Wiping the Tears of our children. Participants will have a better understanding of grief and healing through culture.

A Case of Mistaken Identity: What If the Culprit is not ADHD?
Anne Dilenschneider (Journey Counseling Services)

A person has difficulty focusing at school or work, doesn’t remember instructions, and has a hard time sitting still. It’s easy to jump to the conclusion that s/he has ADHD. Yet this may be a case of mistaken identity. There are several conditions with the same symptoms, and each requires a different treatment. This presentation will describe the criteria for ADHD diagnosis, identify other conditions that exhibit the same symptoms, and describe the clues that suggest a client may not have ADHD.
Creating the Supportive Group Counseling Environment: Best Practice for Psychoeducational Groups for Working with Children and Adolescents in Schools.
Ahmet Can (Assistant Professor, Northern State University)

As a school counselor, do you want to feel more competent leading psychoeducational groups when working with children and adolescents in schools? Participants in this workshop will discover how to create and structure psychoeducational groups for students in their personal/social, academic and career development in school system. This comprehensive session provides professional school counselors with all materials, creative techniques and necessary resources for immediate implementation, including specific activities, handouts and suggested timelines.

6:45am-7:45am Mindfulness Practices for Counselors 1.0 CE
with Sheila Anderson (Britton-Hecla School District)

This session will be a wonderful way for participants to start the day at the conference in a mindful manner. The role of a counselor can be stressful. In order to serve others, counselors must first take care of themselves. Mindfulness practices can help counselors relieve stress related to their work. There are many ways to practice mindfulness, including yoga, meditation, and guided visualization just to name a few. This session will introduce participants to some mindfulness activities and explain the importance of mindfulness for a less stressful, meaningful life. Participants will have the chance to experience some mindfulness activities to focus and calm the mind and prepare for the day. Handouts with further resources will be provided. Dress comfortably for stretching/yoga

8:00am Conference Registration Table Opens East Lobby

8:30am – 12:30pm Clinical Supervision and Ethics 4.0 CEs
with April Bolton, MA, LPC-MH, LPC, NCC, QMHP

When writing the story of a new clinician’s early supervision and preparation for licensure and beyond what are the key elements supervisors need to be aware of? Many times clinicians are thrown into the role of being a supervisor because they have the right credentials but they may not have experience or training to be prepared for all the things that come up in clinical supervision of another new clinician. The goal of this presentations is to gain more knowledge on clinical supervision as well as the ethical considerations and possible risks one has to manage while providing clinical supervision. This presentations will provide information on various theories and best practices of clinical supervision, a review of rules on clinical supervision or the purpose of licensure in the state of South Dakota as well as the ethical guidelines from the ACA, and a discussion of ethical topics surrounding clinical supervision.

Family Connection/Children’s Connection
John Hegg (Adjunct Professor, University of South Dakota) & Gretchen Fjerkenstad (Director, Family and Children’s Connection)

Children’s Connection, used in the Sioux Falls School District, is a group support program with an established curriculum for children with an incarcerated parent. In an effort to reach all children, this United Way funded program is willing to share their curriculum and support with any agency or school throughout the state.

Making Human Connections with High-Achieving Low-Income Students
Julie Nelson (Rapid City Area School District)

High-achieving and low-income students...is that possible? Why yes, it is. Come learn about a non-profit organization known as QuestBridge and what it can do for the high-achieving and low-income students you work with in schools and communities. Participants will walk away with a firm understanding of the goals of the organization, programs available for juniors and seniors, and resources to identify and mentor these students.

College Readiness for Under-Resourced Students
Deb Thorstenson (Project Director, Jump Start)

Under-resourced students frequently struggle in college. Learn different factors that can be taken into account when preparing secondary students to consider a postsecondary education. Also learn about South Dakota Jump Start, a federally funded project that assisted over 300 Native American or low-income students to achieve a 70% persistence rate from freshmen to sophomore year in college as opposed to a 65% retention rate among comparison groups.

A tale of two systems: An update of dual credit choices in South Dakota
Jessica Lewis (Academic Advising, South Dakota State University)

The process of course exploration, registration, to grade completion can be a challenging journey for any dual credit student. In 2017, the SD Board of Regents Gen Ed requirements will undergo significant changes, adding new unknowns to students’ paths. Framing forthcoming conversations in post-modern career development approaches can transform Gen Ed conversations from “box checking” to career building. The session is designed to help counselors navigate new SDBOR requirements and explore how social constructive career counseling theory can inform and support course selection.

Check out the new & improved South Dakota Comprehensive School Counseling Program Model
Andrea Diehm (South Dakota Department of Education)

A comprehensive school counseling program shows how school counseling curriculum, responsive services, and individual planning are aimed to serve all students, and shows how efforts impact student achievement and success. Round Table session attendees will leave with a copy of the updated model as well as tools to implement a comprehensive school counseling program in their schools.

LIFE SKILLS – Classroom prevention Curriculum TEAMMATES Mentoring program.
Jackie Kary (Spearfish School District)

LifeSkills overview (LST) is a research-validated substance abuse prevention program proven to reduce the risks of alcohol, tobacco, drug abuse, and violence by targeting the major social and psychological factors that promote the initiation of substance use and other risky behaviors. This is a comprehensive and exciting classroom prevention program. TEAMMATES mentoring program is our greatest human connection story. At risk students are paired with a BHSU education and psychology students who send one hour per week in our buildings meeting with our students.

Make RAMP Part of Your Story
Elizabeth Rus (Brandon Valley School District)

RAMP is a reality that is possible for all school counselors. Learn how the RAMP process will positively affect your school counseling program and come away with practical ideas and resources to take your school counseling program to the next level.

Exploring Connections: The Stories of Youth
Renae Oines (Sioux Falls School District) & Jason Cruse (Sioux Council)

The Exploring Program, a national high and middle school student program through Learning for Life, offers real-life and real-time connections for students to community and business leaders. Exploring offers students the chance to experience the dreaded “networking” before they have it thrust upon them in life. Exploring teaches, and offers the experiences of, connecting with their future self, by meeting, studying, and learning alongside professionals in their chosen career path(s), without the pain of a job interview, odd hours, or crushing tuition!
SoulCollage®, Dreamwork and Native Americans
Denise Curtis (Saint Francis Indian School)

SoulCollage® is a creative and intuitive collage process. A client or student makes their own collage card representing one aspect of their personality or Soul. They can then use the cards intuitively to answer life's questions and participate in self-discovery. They joyfully deepen their understanding of the relationships between their personality parts, their selves and their family/community/world, and their dreams, symbols, and Spirit. Participants will engage in making one SoulCollage® Card and participate in art making in community. This art-making in community is healing in itself and really resonates with Native Cultures. After making one card, participants will engage in processing the cards in a group circle. The circle is also a powerful entity in Native Cultures. The presenter will provide all of the materials.
